Abstract—The authors investigated the effects of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-impact aerobically and resistance training program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life of 111 sedentary, middle-aged, and older adults. The program was designed to be safe and effective for this population. The results showed that the program had a positive effect on physical fitness and health-related quality of life. The authors conclude that this program is a safe and effective way to improve physical fitness and health-related quality of life in this population.

The second factor that contributes to the rise in demand for higher energy efficiency is the growing concern of industry and government with the long-term effects of potentially high energy prices.

Iraqis defy attacks, make high turnout

Baghdad's recent terror attacks prompted high turnout for the election in Iraq, but many voters were wary of the military's role in the process, according to a survey by the U.S. State Department.

The survey, which was conducted by the U.S. State Department, found that 70 percent of Iraqis believed the military should have a role in the process, but only 30 percent believed the military should have a role in the process.

Bird flu kills Vietnamese girl, 12th in a month

HO CHI MINH CITY, Sept. 19 (AP) — A 12-year-old Vietnamese girl died of bird flu on Monday, the 12th person in the country to die of the disease in the past month, health officials said.

The girl, who was from a rural area in the central part of the country, had been hospitalized for several days before her death. She had been diagnosed with bird flu in late August.

Health officials said the girl had been in contact with sick birds in her village. She had also been to a market where sick birds were sold.

The girl's death is the latest in a series of deaths from bird flu in Vietnam. In August, a 10-year-old boy died of the disease. In July, a 15-year-old girl died. In June, a 12-year-old girl died.

Health officials said the deaths are a reminder that bird flu is still a threat to public health. They urged people to avoid contact with sick birds and to cook meat thoroughly.

Sarangani oil slick alarms, angers gov

MANILA, May 10 — A massive oil slick that has spread over a large area of the Philippine Sea off the coast of Sarangani province has alarmed and angered the government.

The slick, which is believed to be from a shipwrecked oil tanker, has been seen for several days and has caused concern among local fishermen and residents.

The government has ordered a search for the source of the slick and has asked the shipping industry to help in the search.

The slick has also caused concern among environmental groups, who fear that it may damage the marine ecosystem.

The government has also ordered a cleanup of the slick and has asked the shipping industry to help in the cleanup.

Aurora, Nueva Ecija governors deny illegal logging raps

By JERRY COCHIN
and DOMINIC S. CHAPIN

MANILA, Jan. 31 (PNA) — Aurora and Nueva Ecija governors have denied reports that they were involved in illegal logging activities. The governors, who are both members of the Philippine National Police (PNP), said they were not involved in any illegal logging activities and that they were only involved in the legal logging industry.

Spreading the gospel of vegetarianism

By [Name]

Some people have long been vegetarians, but in recent years, and in spite of strong religious opposition, the number of vegetarians has increased. In Singapore, the number of vegetarians has increased from 10 per cent in 1990 to 15 per cent in 2000, according to a survey by the Singapore Vegetarian Resource Project (SVRP). The SVRP is a non-profit organisation that promotes vegetarianism and provides information on vegetarianism to the public.

Dr. [Name], a vegetarian, says that the increase in vegetarianism is due to a number of factors. One of the main reasons is the growing awareness of the health benefits of a vegetarian diet. Many people are now aware that a vegetarian diet can help to reduce the risk of heart disease, high blood pressure, and other health problems. Another reason is the growing concern about the environment. Many people are now aware that a vegetarian diet is more sustainable than a diet that includes meat.

Dr. [Name] also says that the increase in vegetarianism is due to the growing awareness of the ethical issues surrounding the production of meat. Many people are now aware that the production of meat involves the killing of animals, and that this is a morally unacceptable practice. Dr. [Name] says that the increase in vegetarianism is a positive trend, and that it is important for everyone to be aware of the benefits of a vegetarian diet.

Some people are vegetarians, not just for ethical reasons, but for health reasons. In the light of the Big C,
